LGBTQIA+ DOMESTIC ABUSE SUPPORT

DOMESTIC ABUSE IS A CRIME

Many people do not recognise the signs of domestic abuse and the impact this can leave.

Domestic abuse is still a difficult concept in society and the LGBTQIA+ community faces additional, complex barriers on top of this, such as Transphobia, Biphobia or Homophobia.

Prejudice still exists, and it can affect a person's confidence in sharing their sexual orientation or gender identity.

Fear of not being understood, or fear of inappropriate services might stop someone from accessing needed support. We are here for you.

What does it mean?

It involves the abuse of power and control by 1+ person over another. This can take the form of physical, sexual, emotional, & financial abuse. Coercive control, harassment and stalking are also forms of abuse.

Abusers can use sexual orientation and/or gender identity as an excuse for their abuse behaviours and...

Alienation from unsupportive parents or partners.

If you are being abused by a partner, ex partner or family member, we have an LGBTQ+ Advocate and DA Outreach Worker available to help you.

Additional isolation that Homo/Bi/Trans/Ace phobia can cause...

Trans people can experience domestic abuse from a same or opposite sex partner, and can do so regardless of the gender identity of that person.

Threatening to out you or outing you without your permission

Remember - anyone can be a victim of domestic abuse, regardless of any characteristics or background.
